

Freelance Leadership Actor (m/f/x)

At organ.io we are dedicated to leadership development. Good leadership impacts people's lives every day, so we've created an innovative video-based leadership feedback and development tool to help professionals develop their leadership skills.

Do you enjoy improvisational acting and are you excited about leadership development and innovative ways to address big problems? Then we should talk!

What we are looking for:

- Professional leadership experience
- Experience with role-playing or ability to improvise authentic business conversations
- Fluent business vocabulary and understanding of fundamental business conduct
- Ability to depict diverse leadership behaviors of business leaders in one-on-one or group situations
- Full English proficiency is required, native English is a plus
- Curiosity about working on a video set. Ability to take directions, paraphrase wordings, and having a "feel" for the camera
- Enthusiasm for experiments and innovations

What you can expect:

- Regular video shootings in Berlin
- The opportunity to tackle challenging leadership topics and the possibility to gain deep knowledge about behavior and perception in a relaxed and fun atmosphere
- Be part of designing a truly innovative leadership development solution; we appreciate your ideas and input during the shoots!
- Be a part of the "leadership actors community" of organ.io
