

Freelance Leadership Actor (m/f/x)

At organ.io we are dedicated to leadership development. Good leadership impacts people's everyday lives and future in a magnitude of different aspects. At organ.io, we provide an innovative video-based solution for self-organized leadership development. Our solution helps individuals to develop their leadership competencies and behavior effectively.

Do you enjoy improvisational acting and bringing different leadership situations to life with your behavior? Are you excited about the challenges of leaders and the possibilities to master them effectively? Then we should talk!

Who we are looking for:

- Comprehensive experience as a leader or working closely with leaders (e.g. HR Business Partners or similar)
- Experience with role-playing or improvisational acting of leadership behavior (e.g. qualifications, training or seminars)
- Fluent business vocabulary and understanding of typical leadership situations
- The ability to show varying leadership behaviors
- (Near-)Native English is a must
- The looks of a young leader (between 25 and 35 years old)
- Curious about working on a video set. Having the ability to follow instructions, paraphrase phrases and having the "feel" for the camera
- Excited about experiments and innovations

What you can expect:

- Leadership behavior and development from a truly new perspective
- A new approach to self-organized development of leadership competencies in organizations
- Be part of designing a truly innovative leadership development solution - we appreciate your input and ideas - let's try out new things together
- Be a part of the "leadership actors community" of organ.io
